“ To the family of Chuck A. Ruff, a fellow Washingtonian, class of 1959, and was an outstanding and very successful Relator for many years that I remember.

May his life be a beacon of success that all can emulate when one is dedicated to his chosen profession.

I'm his memory, I would quote the last stanza of the BTW alma mater which expresses, "thy sons and daughters shall forever shine". Chuck Ruff's bright light will shine eternally.

“ I am deeply saddened to learn of the death of a friend and professional colleague. I extend my heartfelt sympathy to his daughter and sons, as well as to his grandchildren, who were always on his mind and in many of our conversations throughout the years. We shared history as graduates of Booker T. Washington High School and were both proud Tornados. Charles A. Ruff was a gentleman, a stellar professional in several areas, including Real Estate, Property Development, and Community Leadership. He was the consummate "teacher"; always willing to share his knowledge with others who had a genuine interest in learning about his paths to success. Humor and a hearty laugh were part of his notable "human" traits. He cared deeply for the people he called "friends" throughout his lifetime. I extend my condolences to them as part of this tribute.

“ I would like to extend my heartfelt condolences to the Ruff family on the passing of their father and grandfather, and to the many friends and acquaintances whom this man touched over the course of a stellar and multifaceted professional life as a Realtor, Builder, and community leader. I was glad to call him both "friend and colleague"—many laughs and great memories of shared experiences, especially as graduates of Booker T. Washington High School, shaped our friendship. I am thankful for the storehouse of knowledge I gained via my professional connections to him.
